Course Description Using critical reading, observation or investigation to explore topics in depth, students learn to incorporate, accommodate or refute other voices, use evidence and persuasion and follow patterns of reasoning to support their positions.

Pre-requisite/program: A passing grade (C or better) in WR 95 or equivalent coursework.

Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of this course, the successful student will be able to	These outcomes will be verified by one or more of the following assessments
1. Write for different audiences and various purposes.	Students' work demonstrates an understanding of situational contexts in which writing takes place: the needs, values, and expectations of different audiences; and the writer's purpose to primarily inform or persuade.
2. Write clear, focused, coherent essays using the conventions of English grammar and style.	Students construct and use a thesis to shape well-developed essays that demonstrate proficiency, including effective tone, persona, diction, usage, idiom, and syntax.
3. Search for and synthesize outside source material into written work.	Students' work demonstrates proficiency in finding, critically reading, summarizing, analyzing, and evaluating sources in order to responsibly incorporate facts, opinions, judgments, and data from research in their writing.
4. Demonstrate the ability to avoid plagiarism and use an appropriate documentation style.	In their essays, students effectively use summary, paraphrase, and direct quotation with the appropriate documentation to cite sources correctly and avoid plagiarism
5. Demonstrate an understanding of writing as a multi-stage recursive process.	Students are able to articulate the process-based approach they use to write essays that include steps such as invention, drafting, thesis formation, organization, revising, and editing.
6. Demonstrate a familiarity with the basic rhetorical strategies in argumentative discourse.	Students are able to identify, explain and evaluate basic structural components of written arguments such as claims, support and evidence, and refutation. Students also know and can deploy such basic rhetorical strategies as appeals to ethos, logos, and pathos and can effectively distinguish between legitimate and illegitimate modes of argument and persuasion.
7. Evaluate their own and their peers' writing.	Students complete at least one (formal or informal) written review of their own writing strengths and weaknesses, including effective self-prescriptions for improvement; and complete appropriate written reviews of peers' drafts, including suggestions for revision and editing.

Program-level Outcomes: Independent Accreditation Requirements:

Writing

- Read actively, think critically, and write purposefully and capably for academic and, in some cases, professional audiences;
- Locate, evaluate, and ethically utilize information to communicate effectively; and
- Demonstrate appropriate reasoning in response to complex issues.

Information Literacy

- Formulate a problem statement;
- Determine the nature and extent of the information needed to address the problem;
- Access relevant information effectively and efficiently;
- Evaluate information and its source critically; and
- Understand many of the economic, legal, and social issues surrounding the use of information.

Instructional Methods

In class, we will use a variety of learning formats, including discovery (pre-writing) techniques, small and large group discussion and workshops, in-class writing activities, peer reviews, listening, reading and taking notes on lectures, and other listening and viewing activities. Basic computer skills are essential to success in this class. Handwritten work will not be accepted for graded assignments.

Course Policies and Advice

- Un-arranged for late work will not be accepted. On-time assignments will be graded ahead of arranged- for late ones.
- In-class assignments, including peer review drafts, must be completed by the end of the class period in which they are assigned.
- Final Exam will be given on the date identified by the COCC generated Final Exam Schedule.
- In-class work will be either retained for student reference or turned in for scoring.

- Late Work will not be accepted without previous arrangement
- Missed Exams – Cannot be made up without previous arrangement
- Attendance/Absences – attendance is required – unexcused absences will cost 5pts each. Missing more than 15 minutes of class time will count as an absence.
- Changes to the syllabus/deadlines/assignments will be made on the class page or by email.
- Email policy: Students must use COCC account email only, and must include the student's course number in the subject line.

Reading Assignments: For each class meeting, students will have material to read, some to be done before class and some during class. Written commentary on assigned readings, called “responses” are part of each reading assignment done outside of class. These responses will be used for class discussion of the reading assigned and may be collected for a rating credit. Out of class responses must be typed in MLA format. Please review Responses handout link on main class page for guidelines to follow.

Peer Review/Editing: Students will be required to share a fairly complete draft of all of the major essays before the final draft is due or at any other assigned time. These drafts will be read by other students and so must be readable and typed. Specific editing forms will be used to guide student feed-back. There are no make-ups for missing peer review sessions.

Packets for main graded essays: Final drafts must have a thematic title, and in the top left corner of the page must be the student's name, date, course information and assignment name. Please staple the required parts as a packet before class with final draft on top, then the working draft, and any other required parts underneath. (in-attention to this format will earn points off...). Each final draft packet of a graded essay must have a Process Writing at the end that tracks the process/experience of writing the paper. Packets must be turned in, in a 9x12 manila envelope with student's name and course data and assignment enclosed printed clearly in the upper left of the address side. Packet content link is on main class page. A digital version of the final draft may also be required as an email attachment (or via Bb, as indicated) from student's COCC mail account.

MLA Formatting: All out of class writing tasks must be submitted using MLA format – typed, double-spaced, 12-point Times New Roman (or Arial). See samples on the OWL web site or our writing handbook for a current guide (or the templates on the class page) for this MLA-formatting, including use of a header to be sure each page contains student's name and page number. In addition, MLA crediting of any ideas/information other than the student's own views/thinking will avoid plagiarism and insure academic, legal and personal integrity (see below for more on plagiarism issues). Please note: Be sure to keep back-up files on a removable disk (cd or flash-drive) of ALL work turned in for a grade, and keep a photocopy of essay packets containing hand-written material.

Attendance and Participation We will use small group workshops as a major component of teaching and learning writing, so attendance is mandatory. Students must, also, be responsible for their own learning by asking questions, doing extra reading, etc. as needed to further their understanding. Students who cannot attend a class, must notify the instructor by email before class time and arrange with another student in class to take notes. Missing more than 15 minutes of class without arrangement will count as an absence. More than 2 unexcused absences will threaten the course grade. The instructor is not obligated to recount in detail what was covered in class for an absent student. The Bb class site and the open internet class page will have course materials, general assignments, etc. for access from any internet computer. But adjustments to in-class activities or coverage of material may be made that do not conform exactly to the day's assignment schedule. Students should get the name and contact information of at least one classmate who is willing to share notes.

SPECIAL WEATHER/COLLEGE CLOSURE POLICIES: If a situation requires class to be cancelled, students must keep up with class assignments on the assignments web page. If assignments are due on a cancelled class day, students can email them to jthielsen@cocc.edu BUT ONLY THROUGH THE STUDENT'S COCC MAIL ACCOUNT, NOT BY PERSONAL EMAIL. Please save a file as a doc or docx and attach to the mail.

Conduct and Behavior COCC college personnel expect all students to behave appropriately in the college classroom. This means that everyone must at all times show respect for fellow classmates and instructors. Common courtesy is essential to a productive learning environment for all students. Any disruptive or distracting behavior in the classroom INCLUDING PERSONAL CONVERSATIONS, shuffling papers, rummaging in bags and/or arriving late will result in lowered grade and possibly being dropped from the course as the instructor determines. Disruptive behavior may also include: any discourtesy to student or instructor, willful disobedience, threatening behavior, profanity or vulgarity, disturbance to the learning atmosphere, dominating a discussion, doing work for another class, dishonesty, cheating and eating in class, etc. Any electronics can be used only with consent of the instructor. *Instructor will rearrange seating and work partners or refer students for college discipline. Instructor must be advised of emergency situations that require a student to leave class for communication issues. Students are expected to be ready to attend class for the allotted time and, as a courtesy to the continuity of the class, may not leave the room without the instructor's OK.

Learning Environment: Class room time will provide a safe, open setting to ask questions, share ideas, investigate material and consider various points of view. Students who come prepared to engage in lively, stimulating discussion, explore their own thinking, write with honesty, care and curiosity, and conform to guidelines of assignments will insure that they benefit from this class, personally and academically. By staying in this class, students are agreeing to and committing to these goals and standards. Students are also accepting responsibility for contributing to the learning of the group as a whole. We will regard writing as a crucial skill for academic success, as a tool for learning, and as a satisfying, enriching end in itself.

Course Grading Scale:

A 93-100 Outstanding performance –meets the assignment goals – grammatically correct overall
 A- 90-92 Superior – nearly meets the assignment goals – mostly correct overall
 B+ 87-89 Excellent - meets most assignment goals – mostly correct overall
 B 83-86 Very good - meets most assignment goals – some grammar/mechanical problems
 B- 80-82 Good – meets most assignment goals – less correct overall
 C+ 77-79 Better than satisfactory but barely meets the assignment goals – problems with mechanics
 C 70-76 Satisfactory meets the basic assignment goals – problems with mechanics
 D 65-69 Passing (Note: Courses in which “D” grades are earned may be limited or not used in specific certificate or degree programs) Does not meet basic assignment goals or grammar and mechanics basics
 F 0-64 Not passing – Does not demonstrate understanding of assignment or mechanical goals

For some course work turned in for credit, a rating scale may be used to help indicate quality of the work.

RATING SCALE: 5 (= 95+ excellent)/ 4 (= 85 close)/ 3 (= 75 a good start) / 2 (= 65 ALERT for immediate help!)/ 1 (= 55- not-in-the-ballpark, student's success seriously at risk)

Final Exam: W DEC. 13, 2017 3:15—5:15 p.m.

The following deadlines apply to full term courses; for part-of-term courses, see individual dates or insert dates here:

First week of each term	Mandatory attendance: students not in attendance or absent with instructor permission are administratively withdrawn
5pm, Friday of second week	Last day to drop with full refund.
5pm Friday of 7th week	Last day to drop with no grade on transcript, last day to change to an audit, instructor approval not required
6pm, Wednesday of 10th week	Last day to drop, requires instructor approval, shows as "W" on transcript

Final Exam Policy: General Information

The Final Exam Schedule has been approved by the Vice President for Instruction, and is published on the COCC Web Site. All full-term classes at Central Oregon Community College include some kind of graded or evaluated activity during the period set aside and scheduled for final examinations. If the activity is a final examination, it should be comprehensive -- i.e., it should cover the work of the whole quarter. Final examinations should not exceed the allotted time and the total time expected to be spent on take-home finals should not exceed the time taken on in-class finals including preparation and examination. Take home finals should be due at the end of the scheduled final examination hour. On an individual basis, for emergencies and other special circumstances, a student may take a final examination at a time other than that scheduled, providing the student has received prior approval by petition signed by the instructor and the department chair. Approved petitions are returned to instructors, with copies sent to the Vice President for Instruction.

Students Rights and Responsibilities:

Please read the Students Rights and Responsibilities handbook available at:
<http://studentlife.cocc.edu/Resources/Policies/default.aspx>

Americans with Disabilities Statement:

Students with documented disabilities who may need special instructional accommodations or who may need special arrangements in the event of an evacuation should notify the instructor as soon as possible, no later than the second week of the term. Students may contact COCC Disability Office in Boyle Education Center to discuss special needs, 383-7583.

COCC Non-Discrimination Policy:

Central Oregon Community College is an affirmative action, equal opportunity institution. It is the policy of the Central Oregon Community College Board of Directors that there will be no discrimination or harassment on the basis of age, disability, gender, marital status, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status in any educational programs, activities or employment. Persons having questions about equal opportunity and non-discrimination, please contact Human Resources for referral to the appropriate personnel, 383-7236.

Depending on the course content (e.g. Massage Therapy or Nursing), it may be advisable to include the following:

Physical Contact Statement:

Due to the nature of this course, students are advised that physical contact between the instructor and student, or student to student is required for some lab assignments (example, taking blood pressure, taking pulse, etc.) If you have concerns about these requirements, you are encouraged to discuss these with the instructor prior to the next class session to determine if appropriate alternative assignments exist. If you do not think you will be able to participate to the extent required by the course, you are encouraged to drop the course within the appropriate deadlines in order to obtain a refund.

Student Insurance:

Students are not covered by medical insurance while on campus or involved in college classes and activities. Students are responsible for their own medical and dental insurance coverage.
